The Who were one of the most memorable and influential of the 1960s British Invasion bands — memorable because of their loudness and because they destroyed instruments during performances and influential because of their success in crafting “Power Pop” singles like “My Generation” and “I Can See for Miles” — long playing albums Live at Leeds and The Who Sell Out. The editors Gennaro and Harrison have successfully compiled a selection of texts on a band and their followers who could only exist at that particular time. Here we have a good compilation of texts that will appeal to anybody interested.
