By Roberto Finelli : A Failed Parricide: Hegel and the Young Marx (Historical Materialism) A Failed Parricide: Hegel and the Young Marx (Historical Materialism):

Many hold that the transition from Hegel's materialism to Marx's materialism signifies a progressive development from an abstract idealist theory of becoming to a theory of the concrete actions of humans within history. A Failed Parricide offers an innovative reading of this transition, arguing that Marx remained structurally subaltern to Hegel's conception of the subject that becomes itself in relation to alterity. About the Author: Roberto Finelli is Professor of the History of Philosophy at Roma Tre. He has published numerous studies dedicated to Hegel, Marx, Freud, and modern and contemporary philosophy. He is the editor of the online journal Consecutio temporum.
